Arizona Department of Education
Standards, Curriculum, & Instruction

February 4, 2016
Public comments on the standards indicated that there is some confusion regarding the differences between standards, curriculum and instruction.

- Examples include comments referencing:
  - Textbooks, novels, literature
  - District-adopted materials
  - Teacher instructional methods
  - Specific math problems
  - State or local assessments
Standards – What a student needs to know, understand, and be able to do by the end of each grade. Standards build across grade levels in a progression of increasing understanding and through a range of cognitive demand levels. Standards are adopted at the state level by the State Board of Education.

Curriculum – The resources used for teaching and learning the standards. Curricula are adopted at a local level by districts and schools.

Instruction – The methods used by teachers to teach their students. Instructional techniques are employed by individual teachers in response to the needs of the students in their classes to help them progress through the curriculum in order to master the standards.
